MY STAY IN NORWAY

What did I like the most was the time when the two nationalities were together and we spoke about our habits, behaviour, opinions about emigrants and our experience with another nationality and culture. That was very interesting because students were very informed and we could speak about interasting topics with them. That was a way how we could improve our communication skills and extend our knowledge.

The most interesting was a team work of two absolutely different nationalities at workshops that used to bring very funny situations when we put our ideas together. But I think that the most important thing was a willingness to understand each other and to create something together.

The biggest difference between our nationalities is celebrating of feasts and our politicial systems. There are big differences between these two cultures. But in my humble opinion almost every country has its own old customs, which are typical for that country.

The first day when we came to the Drammen was fine. We made our own trip into the town. We saw some sightseeing there and in the afternoon we went to a forest. Countryside in Norway is really beautiful. We saw that Norwegians try to protect their environment.

I think the best day was Monday. We went to the capital city, Oslo. We had a very good program during the whole day. The most interesting place for me was Open Air Museum. I saw a lot of old houses there. The visit of this place was a nice experience.

During following days we were at school. It was also very good because of education and fun. Workshops were a very good way how to know and understand each other. Of course, our nationalities, cultures and customs are different but it does not mean that we should not respect them.

The biggest surprise was the bowling evening with our friends from Norway. That was a very good idea because that evening we could break ice between us and we became absolutely spontaneous. The best thing was that nobody could play the bowling, so we were not embarrassed. After this activity we went together to the city center and we were speaking about our experiences from trips in another foreign countries.

The last but not least I want to say that I am very happy that I was in Norway. After this experience I can honestly say that Norwegians are really kind and friendly people. In the future I want to come back to this beautiful country.
